Womanizer

empowers everyone to find their individual sexual fulfillment

How?

- We encourage an open-minded and shame free dialogue about (female) sexuality and pleasure and invite everyone who wants to join us.
- We regularly speak with international experts, doctors and therapist to gain new insights.
- We advocate for equality, diversity and sexual empowerment.
- We create beautifully designed premium products that enable people to explore and enjoy their sexuality.

The true original

Womanizer was the first product to use changes in air pressure to gently suck and massage the sensitive nerve-endings of the clitoris, leading to a new kind of extraordinary orgasm. This is possible through the patented Pleasure Air Technology, which can only be found in the original Womanizer products.

With the invention of Pleasure Air, we revolutionized the sexual wellness industry in 2014 and created a new category of sex toys.

#IMasturbate

In early 2019, Womanizer launched the #IMasturbate campaign and movement to show that masturbation is completely natural, healthy and beautiful. We believe: A fulfilled sexuality – especially with oneself – is an essential part of a healthy life.

However, for many women, this is not yet their reality. A Womanizer study* found out that the global Masturbation Gap between men and women is still 62%.

In October 2020, British singer and author Lily Allen joined the movement and to help lead the charge on raising awareness for more sex positivity and ending the stigma around female pleasure.

*Conducted by Appinio. July 2021. 17 countries, 14,500 participants.

Measures (1)

Under the umbrella of our #IMasturbate movement, we have introduced different measures to further destigmatize women's pleasure:

Clinical study: Menstrubation (Menstru(ation) + (Mastur)bation)
In 2020, Womanizer conducted the world's first clinical study that examined whether masturbation can help against period pain. Almost 500 women from all over the world participated. The results: Yes, masturbation can help ease period pain and has short- and long-term, pain-relieving effect. With these new findings, we want to close the Gender Health Gap, which disadvantages women.

International Equal Masturbation Day
In 2020, Womanizer introduced the International Equal Masturbation Day, raising awareness towards the Masturbation Gap. In 2021, the gap sat at 62%, therefore day fell thus on August 14. The date symbolizes the first day of the year that women would have masturbated for the first time compared to men who started masturbating at the beginning of the year.

Measures (2)

The Pleasure Fund

The Pleasure Fund is our commitment to invest 250,000 € over the next five years in research on women's sexual health, well-being and pleasure. Women have been historically neglected in medicine and research. This lack of research leads to the "Gender Health Gap," and we want to do our part in lessen this gap. The first project studies the effects of sexual dysfunction for those recovering from breast cancer, in collaboration with Berlin's Charité University Hospital & Research Institute. First results expected: October 2022.
