The true original

Womanizer was the first to harness changes in air pressure to create a revolutionary sensation—gently stimulating the clitoris with soft pulses of air to deliver a completely unique orgasmic experience.

This groundbreaking innovation, known as Pleasure Air Technology, redefined sexual wellness. With the introduction of Pleasure Air in 2014, we didn't just launch a product—we pioneered an entirely new category of sex toys, transforming pleasure as we know it.

"A suction toy that doubles as a penetration toy, Womanizer Duo 2 does it all. If you kind of want an "everything and the kitchen sink" sex toy experience, this one might be for you."

Classic 2

PureWow

"With tons of knockoffs on the market, The Womanizer is what sex toy aficionados would consider the 'little black dress' of sex toys. Sure, you can try on something else, but this classic piece is totally worth the investment."

The Pleasure Fund

Launched in 2021, the Pleasure Fund is Womanizer's five-year commitment to investing €250,000 in research advancing women's sexual health, well-being, and pleasure. Women have historically been underrepresented in medicine and research, contributing to the "Gender Health Gap." Womanizer is committed to doing its part to help close this gap.

Clinical Studies:

Menstrubation (Menstru(ation) + (Mastur)bation)

In 2020, Womanizer conducted the world's first clinical study that examined whether masturbation could help against period pain. Nearly 500 women from all over the world participated. The results revealed that masturbation can help ease period pain and has short and long-term, pain-relieving effect.

Breast Cancer

This project studied the effects of sexual dysfunction for those recovering from breast cancer, in collaboration with Berlin's Charité University Hospital & Research Institute. Results showed that breast cancer survivors, who were undergoing antihormonal treatment, experienced both mental and physical arousal when using a Womanizer toy.

Menopause Research

As a long-standing advocate for pleasure at every stage of life, Womanizer is committed to driving meaningful change—today and for generations to come. That commitment goes beyond conversation and is backed by research and action.

In 2024, Womanizer partnered with the Kinsey Institute to survey Americans on their knowledge of and experiences with menopause. The findings uncovered a powerful yet often overlooked form of relief: masturbation. Results showed that 36% of women experienced menopause symptom relief through masturbation, with 1 in 10 relying on it as a primary coping strategy.

Building on these insights, Womanizer conducted the world's first clinical study examining the impact of masturbation on menopause symptoms in 2025. After four weeks of using Womanizer Next, 93% of participants reported experiencing at least one menopausal symptom less frequently—reinforcing masturbation as a credible, science-backed tool for menopause symptom relief.

Taking a Stand Against Censors

In 2025, Womanizer approached NASCAR with one simple ask: to sponsor a female driver for the 2025 season.

Despite NASCAR's history of accepting sponsorships from male sexual health brands, Womanizer's proposal was declined.

In response to NASCAR's decision, Womanizer took over a major billboard outside of the Daytona International Speedway, during the week of the Daytona 500 to highlight NASCAR's contradictory sponsorship policies and call for change. A mobile billboard traveled around Daytona International Speedway during the Daytona 500 Media Day to raise further awareness of this bias among the media.

Not only did this campaign garner more than 700M impressions, but it was also awarded the Best Publicity Stunt at the 2025 PR Daily Awards.
